AUTHOR'S NOTE

Why I Created the Four-Volume Series

My name is Janine of House Arabella and Walters.

Many threads of my life have led to this work: my love for Abba Father our Creator, my love for family and to protect the freedom of future generations, my professional background in occupational therapy, mental health, needs assessment, mediation, coaching, vocational and social rehabilitation, health-service development, business management, property development, building of homes, together with my work in community development and practical community problem-solving. Across all of these areas I have been guided by one persistent question: can we find a better way—one that protects life and freedom, strengthens families, restores what has been harmed and helps communities live together in love, truth, responsibility and peace?

I wanted men and women to be free from unnecessary control and able to participate meaningfully in the life of their own communities. Leadership should serve rather than rule. Authority should carry responsibility. Justice should protect, hold wrongdoing accountable and seek restoration wherever possible. No man or woman should place themselves above another; when harm occurs, each must answer for their own actions through a fair and transparent process.

I started a process firstly to hold those accountable for harm caused to me and my daughter with Health New Zealand when I discovered that the corporate and legal system was designed to avoid any liability of the big corporations and government. I saw a lot of injustice and decided that I would go the full distance to hold the big corporations and the officers that run them accountable for their actions with the goal to bring about change. I wished to work in partnership with them to bring about change for the good of all. Instead I discovered that the system was corrupt to its core so decided to challenge the whole system. Of special significance while I was still grieving for the loss of my daughter the COVID-19 pandemic and vaccine mandates occurred that had a lot of parallels to what had happened to my daughter. My daughter had been placed under the Mental Health Act and forced to take a medication against her will which had serious negative side effects which ultimately led to her death. As the district health board and the courts and government officials didn't want to have any liability they covered up lots of wrongful and neglectful actions. It was a horrific time that I wouldn't wish to happen to any other individual or family, where the corporation involved was also my employer, so didn't just harm me as a mother but also as an employee.

The investigation report into my daughter's death came out about 2 weeks before the COVID-19 vaccine mandates were announced around 1 November 2021. I placed myself off work straight after receiving the results of the investigation, for at that time I had been placed in an open plan office with about 100 others including the teams who were involved in my daughter's care. The environment no longer felt safe for me. For a couple of weeks I spent all my time researching all the laws that were changing while the country was supposedly in a state of emergency with the government holding full emergency powers to do so. Informed consent no longer existed and was not required for the vaccine or for euthanasia or for performing abortions. I started to get very concerned about the potential for horrific harm to start occurring. Then the vaccine mandates were announced, and after my background in mental health plus firsthand experience with my daughter I saw clearly that the government was using emergency powers to place the whole country under the Mental Health Act to implement the mandates taking away freedom of choice. Since they took away freedom of choice they had to be held accountable for any harm that arose from their actions.

I was given the first vaccine death autopsy report for 26-year-old Rory Nairn and the Ministry of Health's own report and data showing the vaccine wasn't effective to prevent COVID-19. The government was actively promoting in the media that the vaccine was safe and effective when there was evidence that one of the risk factors is death and their own evidence showed it wasn't effective. I placed a liability notice with the evidence of the vaccine not being safe or effective to the CEO for the Bay of Plenty District Health Board (who from 1 July 2022 became Health New Zealand) that because they were promoting the vaccine to be safe and effective when the evidence clearly showed it wasn't they would be liable for every death caused and every severe adverse reaction and for all loss of livelihood and any other harm caused by enforcing of the mandates with a one-million-dollar charge for harm placed for every man, woman, boy and girl living in New Zealand. This charge went all the way through to the High Court level unrebutted and undefended. The High Court at that time refused to process summary judgement which led to the second set of charges laid for turning man into person to make him a debt slave. Another one-million-dollar charge was laid on behalf of every man, woman, boy and girl in New Zealand which again was undefended and unrebutted because all the evidence showed that this was true. All this you will discover as you read the documents in this volume. Another whole volume will be dedicated to expose the Trickery of the Legal System and the Difference Between Man and Person.

Volume 4 is the evidential companion to the first three volumes. Volume 1 records the statement of facts, standing and chronology. Volume 2 presents the Constitution, governance framework and practical community model. Volume 3 opens the biblical foundation and the Father's heart behind that framework. This volume brings together the primary documents, public records, legal research, financial material, notices, photographs, filing records and supporting authorities upon which the recorded conclusions and actions were based.

A central event occurred on 19 July 2024. On that morning I attended Parliament Buildings in Wellington with Tracey Fawcett. At 9:57 am one complete ten-document set was handed over for delivery to Nicola Willis, Minister of Finance, while I retained an identical set as my evidential copy. The hand-delivered material included the Immediate Summary Judgement, Notice of Service, six-page Promise of Honour, four original Bills of Exchange, Exhibits W, X and Y, the national-debt record and debt-clock screenshot, and the Coinage Act 1933. A 2006 New Zealand $10 one-ounce gold proof coin commemorating the 80th birthday of Queen Elizabeth II was also provided in its original presentation packaging.

The four Bills of Exchange were presented as the means by which the recorded debts could be paid, the national debt of just under $180 billion could be discharged and the burden of that debt could be lifted from the men, women, boys and girls living in the land commonly known as New Zealand. The documents also recorded conditions intended to protect life, health, homes, families, resources and the future wellbeing of communities. Soon afterward I spoke outside Parliament and publicly recorded what had occurred.

The documents in this volume then follow what occurred when the payments and conditions were not honoured. They record further notices and opportunities to settle, orders, commercial liens and financing statements, Companies Office and PPSR records, the decision to establish new courts under the Jurisdiction of Almighty God, the resulting insolvency records, the transfer and scheduling of assets into Janine and the People's Irrevocable Trust, and demands for full audits and accounts. The material is extensive because the record needed to preserve not only the conclusions, but the source documents, dates, service, amounts, responses, non-responses and consequences relied upon at each stage.

Readers should expect this volume to be documentary rather than merely narrative. It contains original instruments, notices, affidavits, court and insolvency records, public filings, financial research, legislation, photographs, asset schedules and audit demands. Summary pages and chronological tables are included to make the evidence easier to follow, but the underlying documents are preserved so that readers can examine the record for themselves. Statements concerning summary judgement, authority, liabilities, jurisdiction and insolvency determinations record my standing and the conclusions documented throughout this collection.

My motivation has never been revenge, control or personal enrichment. My purpose is remedy, restoration and accountability: to protect men, women, boys and girls; to return resources to the communities they were intended to serve; to end systems that profit from harm, debt and division; and to show that another way is possible. I believe we can unite and live in harmony when we agree to shared standards and values grounded in love for our Creator, love for our neighbour, doing no harm, truth, personal responsibility, forgiveness, restorative justice and peaceful win/win solutions.

Because Volume 4 is large, its final contents pages will operate as a navigation system. The fourteen Parts and their principal sections will be linked so that readers can move directly from the contents to the relevant evidence and return to the wider chronology. I encourage readers to consider each Part in sequence and alongside Volumes 1, 2 and 3, because the facts, proposed remedy, constitutional framework and biblical foundation are intended to be understood together.

This volume preserves what I did, why I acted, the opportunities that were provided to resolve the matters peacefully, and the documentary path that followed. My hope is that the record will help bring truth into the light, protect what sustains life, restore accountability and open a practical path toward freedom, strong families, caring communities and a way of living together based upon love, respect and responsibility.

When I use the name Janine on its own, I am identifying myself as a living woman standing on equal footing with every other man and woman under Almighty God, our Creator. Crown-Janine, Commander-in-Chief and Statutory Manager are the titles by which I record positions of responsibility and authority arising from the summary judgement and the subsequent record contained within this collection. I do not desire to lord it over anyone. I have taken these positions to hold those responsible for harm and debt accountable, knowing that I too remain accountable for my own actions.

With love, faith and hope for the future!

Purpose, Scope and Use of Volume 1

Volume 1 is the master narrative and chronological guide to the four-volume Collection. It brings together the key facts, dates, positions, decisions and recorded consequences, while directing readers to the original evidence preserved principally in Volume 4 and to the constitutional and biblical frameworks in Volumes 2 and 3.

Proposed Eight-Part Structure

Part One — Identity, Purpose, Standing and Opening Affirmation

Who Janine is; the meaning of Janine, Crown–Janine, Commander-in-Chief and Statutory Manager; purpose, motivation, accountability and the four-volume record.

Part Two — Foundational Background and Events Leading to the Claims

Family, professional and health-system background; events affecting Janine and her daughter; mandates, liability notices, research and the circumstances leading to formal claims.

Part Three — Admiralty Statements of Claim and the Unrebutted Record

The four Admiralty Statements of Claim; parties, service, rebuttal opportunities, defaults, commercial liens, court filings and supporting sequences of events.

Part Four — Summary Judgement, Bills of Exchange and 19 July 2024

Immediate Summary Judgement; the ten-document hand-delivered set; four Bills of Exchange; gold proof coin; photographic and witness evidence; public speeches; banking observations and subsequent notices.

Part Five — Jurisdictional Change, Constitution and Establishment of Courts

19 September 2024; decision of 20 September 2024; flag and proclamations; Constitution; Top 12 Shared Values; courts established 23 November 2024; jurisdictional and biblical framework.

Part Six — Orders, Liens, PPSR and Companies Office Records

Orders, notices, financing statements, PPSR verification statements, Companies Office records, registered interests, recorded debtors and opportunities to remedy.

Part Seven — Debts, Insolvencies and Recorded Consequences

Debt amounts and deadlines; December 2024 insolvencies and subsequent insolvency hearings, declarations, notices and enforcement records through 2025.

Part Eight — Trust, Assets, Community Remedy and Current Standing

Janine and the People's Irrevocable Trust; asset and land-title schedules; audit demands; Top 12 Shared Values; 15 Areas of Service and Need; community governance, remedy and current position.

Opening Declaration

I, Janine of the Royal House of Arabella and Walters (Crown-Janine as my lawful title, Janine as living woman) being of sound mind and over the age of consent with full lawful authority make all of the following statements:

This Statement has been prepared as an executive summary of the Janine of the Royal House of Arabella and Walters Collection of Constitutional Foundational Documents.

According to this Statement, it records the principal chronology, constitutional framework, governance measures and supporting public record developed throughout the companion Volumes. It is intended to provide readers with a concise overview of the Collection and to direct them to the detailed documents, appendices and research where further information may be found.

Purpose of this Statement

The purpose of this Statement is to provide a concise chronological summary of the principal events, publications and governance framework described throughout the Collection.

According to this Statement, it has been prepared to:

- summarise the principal chronology;
- record the author's current position and standing;
- outline the constitutional and governance framework described throughout the Collection;
- identify the principal remedies and governance measures recorded within the Collection;
- provide readers with a guide to the supporting Public Notices, Royal Decrees, Operational Manuals and companion Volumes.

This Statement should be read together with the companion Volumes, appendices and supporting research.

PART ONE — WHO I AM, THE EXPERIENCE I BRING, AND WHY I CHOSE TO ACT

I, Janine of the Royal House of Arabella and Walters, have spent much of my life working with men and women who have faced significant challenges in health, wellbeing, relationships, employment and everyday life.

I am a qualified occupational therapist with approximately thirty years of professional experience. My background includes mental health, social and vocational rehabilitation, needs assessment and the development and provision of services designed to assist men and women to regain independence, confidence, skills and meaningful participation in their communities.

For more than thirty years I have also been involved in running health services and businesses in New Zealand and Australia. This has included responsibility for service development, housing and property development, management, problem-solving, staff, financial decisions and the practical realities of delivering services to meet genuine needs.

My professional life has therefore never been limited to one discipline. It has involved understanding the whole life of the man or woman before me: health, emotional wellbeing, relationships, meaningful occupation, work, housing, independence, community connection and the practical supports required to function well.

That perspective has shaped the way I look at society itself.

A healthy community, like a healthy man or woman, cannot be considered through only one narrow issue. Health is connected to housing. Housing is connected to financial security. Financial security is connected to employment and education. Relationships affect emotional wellbeing. Conflict affects families and workplaces. Environment, food, water, safety, belonging and purpose all influence the quality of daily life.

This is one reason the work that eventually became the Community Framework grew across so many different areas. I did not begin with an intention to design an entire system. It developed because my experience had taught me that problems are interconnected and therefore genuine remedies must also be interconnected.

My Experience in Conflict Resolution and Restoration

Alongside my health-service background, I am a trained mediator and life coach.

I have helped many men and women work through conflict, identify what is really causing a disagreement, communicate more safely and find practical solutions. I have also trained others so that they can help people resolve conflict themselves.

Those experiences taught me something that became fundamental to everything I later developed:

Society works on all levels if can create win/win solutions.

Wherever possible, the better outcome is a genuine win/win—one in which the needs and concerns of everyone involved are heard, responsibilities are understood and a practical pathway forward is created.

Sometimes boundaries remain necessary. Sometimes accountability is necessary. Sometimes wrongdoing must be confronted.

But accountability and restoration do not have to be opposites.

In my experience, true restoration begins when truth can be spoken, responsibility can be accepted and everyone involved is given the opportunity to make better choices going forward.

That is why restorative justice, mediation, personal responsibility and practical conflict-resolution skills became such important foundations of the system I later developed.

The Personal Tragedy That Changed My Direction

My professional experience gave me skills, but personal tragedy gave those skills a new purpose.

The death of my daughter profoundly changed the direction of my life.

She had been placed under the mental health act and was required to take medication against her wishes and had severe adverse reactions that the system did not want to acknowledge or address. For me, this raised a fundamental issue that has remained at the centre of my work ever since: the importance of free will, informed choice and personal responsibility.

I believe a man or woman should be able to make an informed choice and then accept the consequences of that choice. That is how we learn, how we mature and how genuine personal responsibility develops.

When the ability to choose is taken away, responsibility for the consequences is also fundamentally altered.

We saw this on large scale where the New Zealand government in 2021 mandated all to take the covid-19 vaccine. Free will was taken away, whoever makes the decision holds liability for those decisions. The officers within the corporations and organisations behind those decisions are liable for any death or any harm caused and all loss of livelihood. Many New Zealanders are still living with the consequences of those decisions.

That experience and also what happened to my daughter profoundly influenced the way I viewed government control and institutional decision-making and situations where men and women are told what they must do rather than being fully informed and allowed to decide for themselves.

My original response to the loss of my daughter was not to create a new system of governance.

It was much simpler.

I wanted answers and accountability. I wanted to understand how something like this could happen and why those responsible appeared, in my experience, able to avoid meaningful accountability.

As I began researching and pursuing those matters, I increasingly concluded that the problem was not confined to a single event or organisation.

I believed I was encountering a wider system in which institutions could protect themselves while those affected by their decisions were left carrying the consequences.

That led to another question:

There must be a better way.

That question became the seed from which the work described throughout this Statement ultimately grew.

My First Choice Was Co-Operation, Not Replacement

This point is important to the chronology because I do not want a reader to assume that my first intention was to dismantle existing institutions or create an entirely new system.

It was not.

My first preference was for the existing Government and institutions to step back into honour, stop actions I regarded as causing harm, accept accountability where appropriate and work constructively with me towards remedy.

The Promise of Honour document prepared in July 2024 shows this clearly.

In it, I expressly offered to work in partnership with Government if its leaders acted honourably and in what I regarded as the best interests of those living in New Zealand. I proposed that substantial resources be directed back into health, housing, infrastructure, community wellbeing and economic sustainability. I also wrote of programmes for disadvantaged or vulnerable members of society founded on the principle of providing a “hand up, not hand out” and teaching skills rather than dependence.

My proposals were not merely about money.

They were intended to demonstrate what I believed responsible leadership could look like in practice.

I proposed changes intended to reduce financial pressure upon families, improve accountability for public expenditure, support housing, strengthen health services, improve infrastructure and restore greater freedom of choice. The Promise of Honour also proposed working directly with the Minister of Finance and described my wish to move forward in partnership rather than confrontation.

The document concluded that I believed my life experience had prepared me to step into leadership and that my health-service and organisational and business background had given me skills and character that I hoped could be used for the benefit of others.

That is significant because it shows the order in which my thinking developed.

My first proposed remedy was co-operation.

I wanted the existing system to correct itself.

I wanted those holding responsibility to stop what I considered harmful practices, address the liabilities I had raised and work constructively towards solutions. The opportunity was not taken.

The Bills of Exchange were not honoured in the manner required by the instruments. The partnership and remedial proposals were not implemented. The subsequent chronology recorded in this Statement then followed. It was only after what I regarded as continuing dishonour, non-compliance and an absence of meaningful remedy that I concluded a replacement framework had to be developed.

From Reform To Replacement

This distinction matters deeply to me.

I did not begin by asking:

“How can I create a new system?”

I began by asking:

“How can this system be encouraged to stop causing harm and function honourably?”

When, according to my account, that did not occur, the question changed.

It became:

“If the existing structures will not provide the remedy, what would a better system actually look like?”

At that stage my professional background became especially important.

Thirty years in occupational therapy and rehabilitation had taught me not merely to identify dysfunction, but to assess needs and build practical pathways towards improved functioning.

My work in health-service management had taught me how services must actually operate in the real world.

My business experience had taught me the importance of sustainability and sound administration.

My experience in mediation had taught me that conflict must ultimately be resolved rather than endlessly perpetuated.

My work as a life coach had taught me that men and women thrive when they understand who they are, develop useful skills, accept personal responsibility and live with purpose.

All of those experiences began coming together.

I approached the problem almost as I would approach rehabilitation.

I asked: What is causing harm? What needs to stop? What has been lost and needs restoring? What skills, structures and supports are required so that healthy functioning can continue into the future?

That way of thinking eventually produced the Constitution, Royal Decrees, Community Governance Framework and Operational Guidelines.

The 2024 Promise of Honour already contained the beginnings of many of these ideas: investment in health and housing, affordable access to essential services, greater public accountability, community-focused use of resources and an emphasis upon enabling people rather than creating dependency.

The later system was therefore not created suddenly.

It evolved.

Health And Wellness As A Lifelong Thread

Health and wellness are not recent interests for me.

They have been central to my working life for approximately three decades.

My occupational-therapy background taught me that health is much more than the absence of illness.

A meaningful life involves physical wellbeing, emotional and mental wellbeing, relationships, purpose, meaningful activity, participation, independence, a supportive environment and opportunities to contribute.

That understanding later became visible throughout the Community Framework and its broader approach to wellbeing.

It also explains why I have consistently looked beyond treating problems after they occur.

Good systems should help prevent harm, identify needs early, build skills, support resilience and enable men and women to live meaningful lives.

The same philosophy applies to communities.

A community should not merely respond to crisis after crisis.
It should teach communication before relationships collapse.
It should teach financial capability before debt becomes overwhelming.
It should teach conflict resolution before disputes become destructive.
It should encourage health before illness becomes entrenched.
It should develop practical skills before dependency develops.
It should strengthen belonging before isolation takes hold.
That is what I mean when I speak of restoration.
Restoration is not simply returning to something that existed previously.
It is learning from what went wrong and creating something healthier.

The Foundation Beneath Everything

Ultimately, however, the deepest foundation of my work is spiritual.
I believe freedom begins with knowing who we are.
For me, that begins with understanding that we are sons and daughters of God, created and loved by God.
When a man or woman genuinely knows that they are loved, valued and responsible for their own choices, they no longer need to build identity through controlling others.
They can learn to love themselves without placing themselves above others; respect others without surrendering their own boundaries; disagree without hatred; accept responsibility without losing dignity; learn, forgive, grow and connect.
That is why the values running throughout everything I have developed remain deliberately simple:
Love our Creator • Love our neighbour as ourself • Do no harm.
Those principles are not intended merely as words on a page.
They describe the kind of daily life I believe creates genuine freedom.
Freedom coupled with responsibility.
Choice coupled with consequence.
Rights coupled with respect for the rights of others.
Accountability coupled with opportunity for restoration.
Independence coupled with community connection.
It is from those principles that I believe joy, peace, unity and genuine human connection can grow.

Why This Background Matters To The Reader

I include this history because I want readers to understand the woman behind the documents.
I did not arrive at this work from a background of seeking political power. I arrived through health, rehabilitation, service provision, business, mediation, coaching, motherhood, grief, research and trying to solve problems that, in my experience, existing systems had failed to resolve.
The journey recorded in the pages that follow should therefore be understood in that context.
I first sought accountability.
I then offered partnership and remedy.
When, according to my account, that path was not accepted, the process moved into the later insolvency and administrative stages recorded in the chronology.
And because I believed that removing something without replacing it with a constructive alternative would simply create another problem, I then devoted myself to designing what I believed could be a better framework.
A framework intended not merely to govern, but to help men and women develop the knowledge, values and practical skills required to govern their own lives responsibly.
That is the story behind the Collection.

And it is the reason the work eventually became much larger than the proceedings from which it began. My original objective was to obtain accountability and remedy, while offering those responsible an opportunity to step back into honour and work constructively towards change.

The Journey That Followed

Having reached the conclusion that meaningful accountability required both truth and practical solutions, I commenced a course of action that would ultimately develop into the Collection summarised within this Statement.

At the time I did not foresee the scale of the work that lay ahead. My intention was simply to pursue accountability through lawful processes and to encourage remedies that, in my view, would benefit families and communities rather than perpetuate division.

As events unfolded, however, each stage naturally led to the next.

The chronology that follows summarises the principal milestones which, according to this Statement, shaped my present position and standing.

Part One Closing Position

This Part records the experience, motivation and sequence of thought that Janine identifies as the foundation of the Collection: personal loss led to a search for answers and accountability; that search led first to proposed co-operation and remedy; and the recorded non-acceptance of that pathway led to the later framework, proceedings and chronology set out in the Parts that follow.

PART TWO — FOUNDATIONAL BACKGROUND AND EVENTS LEADING TO THE CLAIMS

This Part records the factual background and administrative steps that, in my account, led from personal and public-health concerns to the four Admiralty Statements of Claim. The complete source instruments, postal records, affidavits, notices, invoices and exhibits are preserved in Volume 4.

The Starting Point: Health New Zealand and My Daughter

I commenced working for the Bay of Plenty District Health Board on 1 April 2013. That organisation later became part of Health New Zealand / Te Whatu Ora when the district health-board structure was replaced on 1 July 2022.

My daughter Talia was placed under the Mental Health Act and under the care of officers of the Bay of Plenty District Health Board from 12 February 2018 until April 2019, and again from 11 June 2019 until 18 March 2021. Talia died on 18 March 2021 while under that care. These dates form the opening chronology of the first Admiralty Statement of Claim.

The death of my daughter, my employment within the same system and the investigation that followed caused me to examine the use of the mental health act, can medication be imposed against a man or woman's wishes, duty of care of government and health providers that if they take away rights and ability to choose they then become liable for any negative impact that occurs, that there were no accountability mechanisms in place only protection for the government and the corporations.

The 25 November 2021 Liability Notice

On 25 November 2021 I first sent a Notice of Liability by email to named officers, including Peter Chandler, Don Sorrenson and Scott Hart, and later served it repeatedly upon the identified debtors. The Notice recorded my claims concerning failure to provide a safe workplace, failure of duty of care toward my daughter, vaccine mandates, freedom of choice, loss of livelihood and liability for resulting harm.

The liability notice stated that the district health board and its officers knew that that the covid-19 vaccine was not safe or effective (with evidence provided of first vaccine death and own data that vaccinated more likely to transmit the disease) yet they promoted it as being safe and effective and are therefore liable for every death, all severe adverse reaction and all loss of livelihood of those losing employment through the mandates and I placed a one million dollar charge of harm on behalf of every man, woman, boy and girl in New Zealand.

My position is that this Notice remained live, was supported by evidence and postal records, and was not defended or rebutted. The Notice became Exhibit 1 in the first Admiralty record.

Affidavit, Opportunity to Rebut and Administrative Process

The next formal stage began in December 2023. Each step provided notice, time to respond and, in my record, an opportunity to rebut, cure or settle before the next step was taken.

13–14 December 2023

Further evidence came out November 2023 that the district health boards had exempted 11,000 employees from having the vaccine showing discrimination providing further evidence of wrongdoing to support the commencement of court action against the DHB using the live unrebutted liability notice from November 2021. The DHB Affidavit of Truth and Claim of Harm, Wrongful Dismissal and Discrimination was dated 13 December and recorded as received and signed for by the debtors on 14 December 2023. The parties served with affidavit were the original parties plus the CEO Health New Zealand Margie Apa.

3–4 January 2024

An affidavit extension and updated final pages, including three witness signatures and affirmation of truth, were served by email and tracked post. Rebuttal time was extended to 18 January 2024.

19 January 2024

A Notice of Acceptance was sent with invoice 1006.

9 February 2024

A Notice of Default with Opportunity to Cure, Statement of Facts and invoice was recorded as received, allowing seven calendar days for payment.

21 February 2024

A Certificate of Default with Administrative Judgement, invoice and proof of life was served, with payment stated as due by 1 March 2024.

5 March 2024

A Commercial Lien Notice and Commercial Affidavit of Obligation were recorded as received, allowing fourteen days for payment and recording a lien over debtor property.

6 March 2024

A Certificate of Non-Response and Non-Rebuttal and Notice of Authenticity were signed by three witnesses; the commercial lien was also publicly noticed.

18 March 2024

An Admiralty Statement of Claim was lodged against Health New Zealand and served upon all parties including past and present CEOs.

Why the Matter Expanded Beyond One Organisation

What began as a claim concerning Health New Zealand expanded as I dealt with banking, local-government and court processes. I concluded that the same questions repeatedly arose: who carries responsibility; what happens when a claim and evidence are not answered; whether a corporation can avoid accountability through procedure; and what remedy exists when the institution expected to process a claim becomes part of the dispute.

That progression led to four separate Admiralty Statements of Claim. Each addressed different named debtors and events, but each formed part of one connected record of notice, opportunity to respond, claimed default, liability, remedy and standing.

PART THREE — THE FOUR ADMIRALTY STATEMENTS OF CLAIM AND THE UNREBUTTED RECORD

This Part summarises the four Admiralty Statements of Claim and the shared process recorded across them. It is not a substitute for the original instruments. Volume 4 preserves the complete claims, exhibits, service records and subsequent documents so that the sequence can be examined directly.

The Four Claims

First Admiralty Statement of Claim — Health New Zealand and Others

Lodged on 18 March 2024 with the Tauranga Civil High Court. This claim arose from the Health New Zealand sequence, the death of my daughter, employment and public-health matters, the 2021 Liability Notice, the 2023 Affidavit and the administrative process that followed.

Second Admiralty Statement of Claim — ASB Bank and Others

Lodged on 22 March 2024. The documentary record addresses the banking parties, claimed liabilities, service and subsequent financial and reporting material.

Third Admiralty Statement of Claim — Western Bay of Plenty District Council, BOPLASS and Others

Lodged on 7 May 2024. This record concerns the named council and associated entities and forms the foundation for later council-liability notices, financing statements and debt schedules.

Fourth Admiralty Statement of Claim — Stephen Hewlett, High Court of New Zealand and Crown Entities

Lodged on 3 July 2024. This claim followed the recorded refusal to process the earlier requested summary judgement and the later notice, dishonour, default and commercial-lien steps concerning the Registrar and Crown entities.

Detailed Progression of the First Claim

The first claim contains the most complete consolidated sequence and shows how the process developed. It records the following principal court and service milestones:

- 18 March 2024 — the first Admiralty Statement of Claim, Notice of Summary Judgement and Notice of Proceeding were lodged, together with the lodgement document and supporting material.
- 20 March 2024 — the first stated payment date for invoice 1008.
- 25 March 2024 — a Plaintiff's Memorandum containing further facts and a second demand was lodged; payment was stated as due by 3 April.
- 4 April 2024 — a second memorandum, third and final demand and Notice of Service were lodged, recording rebuttal or payment by 18 April and notice of immediate summary judgement at 5 pm on that date.
- 7 April 2024 — a further memorandum reminded the recipients of the stated 18 April consequence and recorded the removal of one debtor out of compassion.
- 15 April 2024 — notice confirming service of the full set upon the debtors was lodged, again recording the 18 April deadline and the absence of rebuttal.
- May 2024 — Janine attended the court seeking summary judgement and records that the hearing and requested processing were denied. Further attempts were made to present and stamp documents and to obtain acceptance, rejection or counter-offer.
- 21 May 2024 — a Notice of Dishonour was recorded as received by Registrar Stephen Hewlett, allowing until 5 June to process the claim.
- 6 June 2024 — a Certificate of Default with Administrative Judgement was sent to Stephen Hewlett individually and in the stated representative capacities, allowing until 20 June to rebut or pay.
- 20 June 2024 — the stated final rebuttal and payment time expired; the record states that no response was received and a commercial lien was placed over the named Crown corporations.
- 3 July 2024 — the fourth Admiralty Statement of Claim was lodged, stating a further rebuttal period and the approaching 90-day default point.

- 19 July 2024 — the Notice of Immediate Summary Judgement was stamped at the High Court and presented at Parliament with the four Bills of Exchange and associated documents.

Bill Ledgers and the Continuing Debt Record

The Health New Zealand sequence records bill ledgers dated 18 May, 18 June and 7 July 2024. The amounts recorded for that claim increased as the stated default continued: $88,507,629,581 in the May ledger; $97,358,392,539.98 in the June ledger; and $107,094,231,793 stated as due by 19 July 2024 in the July ledger. Postal tracking to lawyer Chris Jury is recorded in the source chronology as well as service to all parties.

The four claims were later brought together through four true bill ledgers. The 20 September 2024 public-notice record states a combined value of $18,702,472,858,017.40 at that stage. Later debt statements and insolvency records are addressed in Part Seven of this Volume and preserved in Volume 4 Parts 11–13.

My Standing on Non-Rebuttal and Summary Judgement

My standing is that the material facts, liabilities and evidence were repeatedly served; time and opportunity to rebut were provided; the recipients did not rebut the claims point by point or honour the payment and remedial requirements; and the unrebutted record therefore matured into administrative judgement, commercial lien and summary judgement. This is the position recorded throughout my instruments and public notices.

I distinguish that standing from a later external court determination. My record is that the court officers did not provide the requested hearing and instead became parties to the subsequent process. For that reason the full record includes not only documents lodged at court, but service evidence, public notices, witness affirmations, PPSR records, invoices, bill ledgers and the later jurisdictional instruments.

Further Opportunities After 19 July 2024

- 24–25 July 2024 — notices and instructions were sent to and recorded as received by additional debtors, including Nicola Willis, Christopher Luxon, Shane Reti and Lester Levy.
- 8 August 2024 — further instructions and another opportunity to rebut were provided, with updated bill ledgers and additional named parties.
- 23 August 2024 — further instructions were added, including an opportunity to rebut and a requirement to comply by 7 September.
- 4 September 2024 — a further extension was recorded so that newly added debtors had additional time, with 19 September identified as the final date.
- 19 September 2024 — the final extension expired and the full jurisdictional and takeover position recorded in Part Five was declared.

PART FOUR — SUMMARY JUDGEMENT, BILLS OF EXCHANGE AND 19 JULY 2024

19 July 2024 is the central presentment date in this Collection. This Part draws together the physical documents, timing, photographs, witness evidence, public speeches, banking observations and the notices that followed. The complete evidence set is preserved in Volume 4 Part 5.

The Two Complete Sets

Two identical complete sets of the hand-delivered documents were present at Parliament. One set was provided for delivery to Nicola Willis, Minister of Finance, and I retained the second as my evidential copy. The photograph time-stamped 09:56:27am was taken immediately before the handover. The handover itself was not photographed because photographs were not permitted.

The Ten Documents Presented

Each complete set contained ten documents in total. The four Bills of Exchange are counted as four separate documents:

- Notice of Immediate Summary Judgement against the Crown debtors, stamped 19 July 2024.
- Notice of Service on Debtors of the Admiralty Statement of Claim.
- Six-page Promise of Honour.
- Four original Bills of Exchange.
- Exhibits W, X and Y.
- New Zealand National Debt record and debt-clock screenshot as at 19 July 2024.
- Coinage Act 1933.

A 2006 New Zealand $10 one-ounce gold proof coin commemorating the 80th birthday of Queen Elizabeth II was also presented in its original presentation packaging. It was provided with the ten-document set but was not itself one of the ten documents.

9:57 am — Handover for Delivery to Nicola Willis

At 9:57 am one complete ten-document set, including the four original Bills of Exchange, together with the packaged gold proof coin, was handed over for delivery to Nicola Willis. I retained the identical second set. The coin can be seen resting upon the paperwork in the photographs taken on the ground immediately before handover.

The Purpose of the Four Bills of Exchange

I presented the four Bills of Exchange as the means by which the four recorded claim debts could be honoured and the national debt of just under $180 billion could be paid in full. The Promise of Honour and accompanying instructions proposed that the Bills of Exchange be fully cashed and that I would invest the money back in and work in partnership with the government using the resources for the benefit of the men, women, boys and girls living in New Zealand. Cashing of these bills had 15 conditions put in place including restoring freedom for rights and choice to all, paying off the national debt, reducing taxes and property rates, improved health care and choices, reduction in energy costs, free parking and travel on roads, stopping revenue making of fines where no harm occurring, addressing overall wellbeing, reducing costs of living, clean air, clean water, access to food and essential services and housing with ongoing communication and partnership to continue improving life for all men, women, boys and girls living in New Zealand.

My first proposed remedy was therefore co-operation. I offered to work with the existing Government if those holding office acted honourably, paid the debts, discharged the national debt and implemented the protective conditions. The later change from reform to replacement followed my conclusion that this opportunity was not accepted and unwillingness to stop harm occurring.

Public Record Outside Parliament

The photograph time-stamped 10:09:45 am records me outside Parliament with my prepared material. At 10:12:48 am I gave an approximately 45-second speech stating that I had just provided the Government the way to pay the national debt of just under $180 billion in full and that this debt was cancelled in full over the people. Soon after 10 am I gave a further formal speech lasting approximately 2 minutes 17 seconds, announcing that I had just won summary judgement against Crown government corporations and Health New Zealand and was now lawfully in charge of Health New Zealand. The speeches were placed on Rumble News soon after the live events.

ASB Bank and Kiwibank Customer-Service Observations

I was a customer of both ASB Bank and Kiwibank. My firsthand account is that, from soon after 10 am on 19 July 2024, customers could not transact through the internet-banking and phone-banking channels I repeatedly checked. I checked the services hourly, including the Kiwibank account into which the Bills of Exchange proceeds were intended to be placed. The banks reported to customers that they were not operational, and normal service returned the following day.

Tracey Fawcett was present with me in Wellington. Tracey witnessed the presentment and saw me check ASB Bank and Kiwibank repeatedly. Her account records that the relevant internet and phone-app banking services could not be accessed.

The Volume 4 analysis records this event separately from the later CrowdStrike outage timeline. It records the close timing between the 9:57 am presentment and the banking shutdown as a material chronological fact, while also stating that the customer-service disruption caused from CrowdStrike is a later separate event.

Events Recorded Soon Afterwards

- 19 July 2024- I did two public videos that were placed on rumble, one where I told the public that I had just provided the means for the government to pay off the national debt, the second video I announced that summary judgement documents had just been handed to government in Wellington and I was now in charge of Health New Zealand
- 20 July 2024 — normal customer banking services returned.
- 22 July 2024 — Lester Levy was appointed Commissioner of Health New Zealand, replacing the board, the next working day after my public announcement of summary judgement against Health New Zealand and being in charge of Health New Zealand.
- July 2024 / reported 2 August 2024 — Caralee McLiesh, Secretary to the Treasury and Chief Executive at the time of presentment of 4 bills of exchange announces straight after this event that she would be resigning.
- 25 July 2024 — further notices and instructions sent after the presentment were recorded as received by named debtors.
- 18 December 2024 — my court and insolvency record declares all crown government and council corporations insolvent as well as ASB Bank insolvent. Carl Ferguson was Chief Financial Officer at that date; the reporting chronology is examined in Volume 4 Part 5 and the insolvency documents are in Part 13.
- 31 March 2025 — Adrian Orr resigned as Governor of the Reserve Bank of New Zealand before the Crown financial year ended on 30 June 2025.

Evidential Position

The photographs and witness accounts establish the presence of two complete sets, the timing immediately before handover, the later preparation and delivery of the speeches, and the presence of the packaged gold coin. The retained evidential set preserves the same documents that were provided for delivery. The financial analysis records what was and was not located in the public reporting examined; it does not claim that a publicly disclosed transaction matching every Bill of Exchange amount was identified.

PART FIVE — JURISDICTIONAL CHANGE, CONSTITUTION AND ESTABLISHMENT OF COURTS

This Part records the transition from the final opportunities provided after 19 July 2024 to the public jurisdictional declaration, constitutional framework and establishment of courts under the Jurisdiction of Almighty God. It states my standing and the framework recorded in the documents; the underlying declarations, orders, Constitution and public notices are preserved in Volumes 2 and 4.

19 September 2024 — Final Deadline and Recorded Standing

The final extension recorded in the claims allowed the newly added debtors until 19 September 2024. My position is that the claims, evidence, bill ledgers, notices and instructions remained unrebutted and unpaid at the expiry of that period. I therefore recorded the immediate summary judgement, takeover and asset position as fully operative from 5 pm on 19 September 2024.

Through that lawful unrebutted summary judgement, based upon the proven liability, evidence and truth recorded in the Collection, I stand in the titles Crown–Janine, Commander-in-Chief having authority over all the New Zealand government crown corporations and the other recorded debtor corporations. When I use Janine on its own, I identify myself as a living woman standing on equal footing with every other man and woman under Almighty God.

20 September 2024 — Public Notice and Decision to Establish New Courts

On 20 September 2024 the Notice of Immediate Summary Judgement and Takeover of Debtor Corporations and All Assets was stamped and received by the High Court and publicly notified. The document records the combined value of the four true bill ledgers at that stage as $18,702,472,858,017.40 and states the consequences claimed to arise from non-rebuttal, non-payment and non-implementation of the instructions.

The same date records my decision to establish new courts under the Jurisdiction of Almighty God. The purpose was to create a forum grounded in truth, evidence, equal standing, accountability, protection from harm and restorative remedy when the existing institutions had, in my account, failed to provide the requested process.

The Jurisdictional Foundation

I declared the land commonly known as New Zealand and Aotearoa to be directly under the Jurisdiction of Almighty God, with the Creator and the Holy Word of God as the highest authority. The two greatest commands identified in the declaration are to love God with all one's heart, soul and mind and to love one's neighbour as oneself. "Do no harm" is the practical standard applied throughout the framework.

This jurisdiction places living men and women on equal footing. No man or woman is to lord it over another. Authority is a position of service and responsibility, not personal superiority. Intervention is justified where harm has occurred and accountability is required. I hold others accountable in the knowledge that I also remain accountable for my own conduct.

8–10 October 2024 — Proclamations and Orders

The proclamations and orders dated 8–10 October 2024 record the practical consequences I declared following the summary judgement. They address jurisdiction, public debt, taxation and rates, fines and revenue collection, essential services, health, housing, resources, corporate responsibility, peacekeeping and the requirement that officers act only with lawful authority.

These orders are preserved in full in Volume 4 Part 9. Volume 1 summarises their place in the chronology; it does not replace the precise operative wording of the source instruments.

10 and 18 October 2024 — Flag and Constitutional Record

The Flag of the United Kingdom of God was created on 10 October 2024 and is recorded as copy- and trade-marked on 18 October 2024. The flag, brief Constitution and full Constitution identify the Jurisdiction of Almighty God and Kingdom of God and the values and responsibilities upon which the new framework is based.

23 November 2024 — Two Courts Established

The one-page public declaration records that the decision to establish new courts was made on 20 September 2024 and that two courts were established on 23 November 2024: the Royal Court of New Zealand and the Highest Court on Terra Earth came into existence under the supreme Jurisdiction of Almighty God, Creator of the Heavens and the Earth and Man, where man according to Genesis chapters one and two in the bible stands for man and woman. The later court and insolvency documents identify and use those courts in the proceedings preserved in Volume 4 Part 13.

The bible is the only book that has been in every court room of New Zealand. The word law means a system of principles and rules of ways to live. The bible has all the principles of how to live where the two greatest commands are to Love our Creator God and to love our neighbour as ourself. If everyone lived according to these principles we would have a society living in harmony with each other. The political party system was designed to keep us divided. We can never be united in a political party system. How we unite is through shared values. Communities can run themselves and live in close relationship with each other.

Top 12 Shared Values for Living Together

The constitutional and biblical framework expresses the common foundation through twelve shared values. They are not numbered as a hierarchy; together they describe how freedom, responsibility, relationships and community life are intended to operate:

- Love Our Creator
- Love Our Neighbour as Ourself
- Do No Harm
- Honesty and Trustworthiness
- Personal Responsibility
- Forgiveness and Restorative Justice
- Contribution and Stewardship
- Respect
- Humility
- Gratitude
- Self-Control
- Peace, Reconciliation and Unity

Shared Values Create a Safe Place for Diversity Unity is not agreement about everything. Unity is agreement about how we will treat one another while working through the things upon which we disagree. That allows tremendous freedom. That is a profoundly different approach to community life.

A Community Where Everyone Has a Place

Although this framework has been inspired by the Father's heart and biblical principles, no man or woman needs to share the same faith or beliefs in order to belong, participate or benefit from it. Some will have a strong faith in God. Others may follow a different faith, be agnostic, sceptical, questioning, or have no belief in God at all. There is still a place for everyone.

Most of us want to live somewhere we feel safe, valued, heard and respected. We want our families to flourish, our freedoms protected, our neighbours treated fairly, those experiencing hardship cared for, and disagreements resolved without unnecessary harm or division.

This is where shared values give us common ground. Values such as love and care for one another, honesty, respect, fairness, kindness, personal responsibility, freedom, forgiveness and doing no harm do not require everyone to hold the same worldview. They provide practical principles around which men and women with very different backgrounds and beliefs can choose to live and work together.

Unity does not mean thinking alike. It means recognising what we hold in common, respecting our differences and choosing ways of living together that allow everyone to flourish. I have seen this work beautifully within community. When men and women agree upon a small number of shared values and genuinely practise them, differences in belief need not divide us. There can instead be greater trust, cooperation, understanding and harmony

The 15 Areas of Service and Need

The Community Model organises the practical needs of community life into fifteen areas. The areas are not ranks and do not require numerical priority. Each exists to serve real needs and to enable communities to participate in their own governance:

- Governance & Leading Operational Guidelines
- Law & Justice Services
- Health & Wellness
- Education
- Social Responsibility and Social Care
- Economy & Administration
- Housing, Infrastructure & Energy Services
- Transportation, Communication and Emergency Response
- Food, Water and Agriculture
- Environmental Stewarding
- Culture, Recreation, Art, Spirituality and Social Cohesion
- Employment and Innovation
- Community Safety and Peacekeeping
- Family
- Mediation, Peace-making and Conflict Resolution

A Constitutional and Biblical Framework of Remedy

The new system is intended as remedy and solution, not simply opposition. It combines a Constitution, biblical foundation, community-governance framework, operational guidelines, restorative-justice processes, shared values and practical areas of service. Its goal is that communities can increasingly govern themselves through love, respect, contribution, truth, accountability and peaceful win/win solutions.

I have no desire to lord it over anyone. I believe men and women can unite and live in harmony when we agree to standards and values grounded in love for our Creator, love for our neighbour, doing no harm and accepting responsibility for our own actions. Leadership is to listen and serve; justice is to protect, establish truth, hold harm accountable and pursue restoration wherever safely possible.

The Father's Heart: Relationship Before Rules

The biblical framework begins with the heart of our Father, not with a list of rules. Almighty God is not presented merely as a distant authority issuing commands, but as our loving Creator who desires relationship with His sons and daughters. We love because He first loved us. Identity, belonging and security grow from knowing that we are created, known and loved by Him.

Rules can restrain conduct for a time, but they cannot by themselves change the heart. The purpose of the framework is therefore to help men and women know the love and character of God and freely choose to live from that relationship. The values are expressions of character: love, truth, faithfulness, mercy, humility, courage, forgiveness, self-control, peace and care for one another.

Love does not remove truth, boundaries or accountability. A loving Father protects, teaches, corrects and restores. In the same way, justice should stop harm, establish truth, require responsibility, repair what can be repaired and create a safe pathway back into right relationship wherever genuine repentance and change make restoration possible.

Freedom, Love and the Law Written on the Heart

The Kingdom of God operates through willing relationship rather than forced outward conformity. Men and women are given freedom to choose, together with responsibility for the consequences of their choices. The deeper aim is that love and truth become written upon the heart so that doing what is right flows from who we are becoming, not merely from fear of punishment or control by another.

Yeshua showed servant leadership: he listened, healed, protected, taught, forgave, confronted hypocrisy and laid down his life for others. Leadership in this framework follows that pattern. A leader is not elevated above other men and women, but accepts a greater duty to serve, remain accountable, protect freedom and help others discover their gifts and purpose.

The Top 12 Shared Values are therefore relational commitments rather than a replacement code of control. They describe how we agree to treat one another while allowing room for different beliefs, gifts, callings and communities. Their purpose is to form safe relationships, healthy families, trustworthy leadership and communities capable of resolving difficulties in love and truth.

Restoration, Forgiveness and Healthy Boundaries

The Father's heart seeks the one who is lost and celebrates the son or daughter who returns. Forgiveness releases vengeance and bitterness, but it does not pretend that harm did not occur. Restorative justice joins mercy with truth, responsibility, restitution, changed conduct and healthy boundaries. Reconciliation is pursued where it is safe and genuine; protection remains necessary where harm continues.

The intended fruit is relationship: relationship with our Creator, a truthful relationship with ourselves, loving relationships within families and respectful relationships throughout community life. The measure of the framework is not how many rules can be imposed, but whether love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control are increasingly visible in the way men and women live.

Volume 3, The Father's Heart Biblical Companion Guide, develops this foundation fully and should be read alongside the Constitution and Community Model in Volume 2.

Transition to the Later Record

The documents that follow this Part record what occurred when the declared debts, orders and opportunities remained, in my account, unfulfilled: further orders and notices, financing statements and PPSR records, council debts, insolvencies, asset schedules, Janine and the People's Irrevocable Trust and demands for full audits and accounts. Those matters form Parts Six to Eight of this Volume and Volume 4 Parts 6–14.

PART SIX — ORDERS, COMMERCIAL LIENS, PPSR AND COMPANIES OFFICE RECORDS

This Part summarises the notices, orders, commercial liens, financing statements, PPSR verification statements and Companies Office events preserved in Volume 4 Parts 6, 7, 9, 11 and 12. These records document the steps taken to give notice, identify the debtors and collateral, preserve the claimed interests and record subsequent disputes concerning removal of filings.

Purpose of the Filing Record

My position is that the claims and debts had progressed through notice, opportunity to rebut, default, commercial lien and summary judgement. The financing statements and verification records were used to place the claimed interests into the public commercial record, identify the relevant debtor corporations and officers and protect assets pending payment, accounting and remedy.

The filings are not the starting point of the claims. Each is connected to the affidavits, notices, service, invoices, bill ledgers and claimed defaults that came before it. For that reason Volume 4 preserves the underlying documents with the later PPSR and Companies Office records.

Key Crown and Individual PPSR Registrations

- 4 March 2024 — Health New Zealand, FG9DCE63BV3B7877.
- 16 March 2024 — ASB Holdings Limited, F78P5F5XB35JT5R5.
- 2 June 2024 — Peter Chandler, FZ4ZMY2Z79K8G494.
- 20–21 June 2024 — Inland Revenue Department, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Ministry of Justice, New Zealand Local Government Funding Agency, New Zealand Debt Management, Reserve Bank of New Zealand, the three Crown entities recorded under Majesty / Sovereign names, High Court of New Zealand and The Treasury.
- 24 July 2024 — a further Treasury registration and Nicola Willis registration following the 19 July presentment.
- 9 September 2024 — Lester Levy, Christopher Luxon and Shane Reti.
- 22–23 October 2024 - all council corporations
- 16–23 November 2024 — further registrations including Diana Sarfati, Alexander Drysdale and Vittoria Shortt, together with later organisation records.

Council Liability Notices and PPSR Statements

In October 2024 liability notices were prepared for council corporations throughout New Zealand, recording my position that the councils were complicit in and liable for the Crown government corporate debt. Volume 4 Part 11 contains 76 unique council liability notices and 78 October 2024 PPSR verification statements.

The earlier Western Bay of Plenty District Council registration dated 6 May 2024 is retained separately.

Christopher Luxon Registration and September Chronology

The Health New Zealand sequence records instructions to Christopher Luxon and other named parties in July and August 2024, further instructions dated 23 August, a compliance date of 7 September and notice that a commercial lien could be placed over individuals if the instructions were not followed. The Christopher Mark Luxon financing statement FE4N6P4G5S93T8Z8 was registered on 9 September 2024 at 07:46:47 and was recorded with the status “Registered.”

Removal, Reinstatement Demands and the Police 105 Record

Sanjai Raj registrar to the Companies Officer and PPSR register sent notice to remove all financial statement verification records off the PPSR register. An affidavit addressed to Sanjai Raj, postal proof associated with delivery on 28 November 2024 showing that all commercial liens placed lawfully where all corporate government and corporate law is based upon Commercial Affidavits, Commercial Contracts, Commercial Liens and Commercial Distresses. Hence, governments and corporations cannot exercise the power to expunge commercial processes.

The Legitimate Political Power of a corporate entity is absolutely dependent upon its possession of Commercial Bonds against Public Hazard. No Bond means no responsibility, means no power of Official signature, means no real corporate political power, and means no privilege to operate statutes as a corporate vehicle.

In commerce, it is a felony for the Officer of a Political Party/Public Office to not receive and report a Claim to its Bonding Company – and it is a felony for the agent of a Bonding Company to not pay the Claim.

If a Bonding Company does not get a malfeasant public official prosecuted for criminal malpractice within sixty (60) days, then it must pay the full face value of a defaulted Lien process (at 90 days).

Except for a Jury, it is also a fatal offense for a registrar or even a judge to impair or to expunge, without a Counter-Affidavit, any Affidavit or commercial process based upon an Affidavit.

Sanjai Raj took the liens off the public register however it did not expunge the liens. A Police 105 report was lodged on 29 November and a later notice of demand of reinstatement back onto the public register and liability and summary judgement addressed to Sanjai Raj if this did not occur.

The Police 105 document is evidence of what I reported to Police.

17 December 2024 Outstanding-Debt Ledger

Volume 4 Part 12 concludes with the outstanding-debt ledger dated 17 December 2024. It records the later claimed amounts, registration identifiers and dates, including references to the 29 November events and later notices. That ledger connects the filing record to the debt and insolvency chronology summarised in Part Seven.

Document-Control Position

The Volume 4 compilations preserve each distinct document and evidence record, notice and supporting record. Where a source document records an allegation, the compilation preserves it as the statement contained in that document. Chronological proximity is not treated by itself as proof of motive or intent.

Source Map

- Volume 4, Parts 6–7 — subsequent instructions, commercial liens and Crown PPSR verification statements.
- Volume 4, Part 9 — proclamations and orders dated 8–10 October 2024.
- Volume 4, Part 11 — 76 council liability notices, 78 October council PPSR statements and the earlier Western Bay of Plenty District Council record.
- Volume 4, Part 12 — Crown and individual registrations, Companies Office correspondence, Sanjai Raj records, postal proof, Police 105 report and 17 December debt ledger.

PART SEVEN — DEBTS, INSOLVENCIES AND RECORDED CONSEQUENCES

This Part records the debt progression, final payment notices, establishment of the courts, December 2024 insolvency determinations and the continuing hearings through November 2025. The wording states the standing and findings contained in Janine’s court documents; the complete hearing summaries, declarations, ledgers, notices and witness records are preserved in Volume 4 Part 13.

Debt at the Principal Stages

- 19 July 2024 — the four Bills of Exchange recorded a total of $7,931,674,108,303.48: Health New Zealand $107,094,231,793.98; ASB Bank and ASB Holdings $6,623,204,293.75; Western Bay of Plenty District Council and BOPLASS $1,273,182,215.75; and Crown government corporations $7,816,683,490,000.00.
- 19 September 2024 — the debt recorded at Full Summary Judgement was $18,702,472,858,017.40.
- 14 December 2024 — the Crown and corporate ledger records a balance of $30,346,480,612,060,600.00 in connection with the Christopher Luxon record.
- 17 December 2024 — the full Crown debt was recorded as $242,771,844,896,485,000.00.
- 17 December 2024 — the separate council debt was recorded as $10,857,037,751,048,900.00, forming part of the full Crown debt.

The ledgers record continuing increases based upon the interest and penalties stated to apply after non-payment. Final True Bill Ledgers and notices required payment before liquidation and insolvency, with 17 December 2024 identified as the final payment date.

Jurisdiction and Courts Used for the Insolvency Record

The decision to establish courts under the Jurisdiction of Almighty God was made on 20 September 2024. The Royal Court of New Zealand and the Highest Court on Terra Earth are recorded as coming into existence on 23 November 2024. Hearings were conducted before identified witnesses, using the principles of love for our Creator, love for our neighbour, doing no harm, truth, evidence, accountability and ordinary plain-language meanings.

Christopher Luxon and the 18 December 2024 Record

The formal document headed “Liquidation Court Summary Judgement of Prime Minister Christopher Luxon jointly with Local Government New Zealand” records insolvency number 181224160, Court Liquidation, and a liquidation date and time of 18 December 2024 at 9:01 am. The dated ledger balance is 14 December 2024; the formal liquidation date stated in the insolvency document is 18 December 2024.

Crown, Council and Banking Insolvencies

On 18 December 2024 the court record declared all identified New Zealand council corporations insolvent due to non-payment. The Crown corporations listed included the High Court of New Zealand, Ministry of Justice, the three Crown entities recorded under Majesty / Sovereign names, Reserve Bank of New Zealand, New Zealand Debt Management, Inland Revenue, New Zealand Local Government Funding Agency, Local Government New Zealand, The Treasury, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Ministry of Health, Health New Zealand and New Zealand Police. ASB Bank and associated debtors were also included in the December insolvency record.

Through the un rebutted summary judgement founded upon the liability, evidence and truth recorded in the Collection, Crown–Janine stands as Crown, Commander-in-Chief and Statutory Manager over the corporations recorded as insolvent, their vacated offices, assets, liabilities and financial affairs.

Effect of Insolvency Under the Court Record

The insolvency orders required directors, chief executive officers and administrators to provide complete statements of financial affairs, lists of assets and liabilities, public and private registers, Crown and Admiralty registers, overseas registers and all other records concerning the financial operation of the corporations.

The court record states that a man or woman declared insolvent or bankrupt can no longer lawfully hold a title, office or position of authority. Once the authority is removed, later decisions, orders, contracts, transactions or actions made through the vacated office are recorded as being without lawful authority and can and will be overturned including sale or transfer of property assets or changes to law where the jurisdiction of Almighty God overrules any other jurisdiction and Janine is in the lawful position of Crown over crown corporate law and Commander-in-Chief over Admiralty law.

Continuing Hearings and Notices

- 3 January 2025 — further Crown officers and responsible ministers.
- 10 January 2025 — Waitangi National Trust Board and associated officers.
- 14 January 2025 — Sanjai Raj and Vittoria Shortt.
- 17 January 2025 — chief executive officers, ministers and vacated offices.
- 17 February 2025 — NZME, Stuff and Horizons Regional Council.
- 4 March 2025 — additional omitted office holders.
- 31 March 2025 — chief executive officers, Kiwibank and corrective insolvencies.
- 8 April 2025 — medical licensing boards.
- 10 June 2025 — Courts of New Zealand, CWBA, ASB directors and five political parties.
- 2 July 2025 — MPI and associated entities.
- 7 July 2025 — arrest-warrant notice and final opportunity to comply.
- 16 July 2025 — MinterEllisonRuddWatts, ASB Bank, Anthony Harper and associated parties.
- 24 July 2025 — Westpac-associated corporations, men and women and entities.
- 20 August 2025 — Jenny Henry and Pfizer.
- 25 August 2025 — ANZ Bank and associated parties.
- 15 September 2025 — Bank of New Zealand and Pfizer Inc associated parties.
- 17 November 2025 — notice to NZTA, New Zealand Police and Ministry of Justice.
- 21 November 2025 — NZTA, Pfizer Inc, BlackRock, Vanguard Group and associated parties.

Central Finding Recorded in Part 13

The central finding is that the insolvencies resulted from non-payment of the debts established through the Immediate and Full Summary Judgements; non-honouring of the four Bills of Exchange; failure to rebut the material facts and evidence; failure to comply with notices and court orders; failure to provide the ordered financial records, registers, assets and liabilities; continued operation after the recorded insolvency dates; and continued action through offices after the court recorded the removal of their authority.

The stated purpose is accountability, restitution, protection and restoration. The insolvency record is therefore followed by the trust, asset, audit and community-remedy material summarised in Part Eight.

PART EIGHT — JANINE AND THE PEOPLE’S IRREVOCABLE TRUST, ASSETS, AUDITS AND CURRENT STANDING

This Part brings the factual narrative to the trust, asset and audit record. It summarises the position that assets identified through the insolvency orders, UCC filings, PPSR records and property schedules are held through Janine and the People’s Irrevocable Trust for the benefit of all living men, women, boys and girls living in the land commonly known as New Zealand.

Purpose and Beneficiaries of the Trust

The trust is recorded as a protective and restorative structure rather than a vehicle for personal enrichment. Its beneficiaries are the living men, women, boys and girls of New Zealand. The stated purpose is to preserve assets, prevent further loss or disposal, meet the needs of communities, provide restitution for harm and steward land, buildings, infrastructure, services and resources for life and future generations.

Janine of the House of Arabella and Walters is recorded as grantor / settlor and as a trustee alongside Frederick John McKay of the House of Stewart. The principal trust document and its additions define the corpus and successive asset schedules.

Document Sequence Preserved in Volume 4 Part 14

- Janine and the People’s Irrevocable Trust — five-page principal trust document.
- Additional Asset and Land-Title Schedule — covering 3 January to 31 March 2025.
- UCC Commercial Lien Filing 2025-265-6313-1 — complete 79-page filing identifying a broad group of corporations and related parties.
- UCC filing concerning Waitangi National Trust, New Zealand Companies Office, MBIE and others.
- ASB Bank PPSR verification statement F824H3TWY9P59S69.
- Commercial Affidavit and Demand Notice for Full Audit and Account.
- Statutory Demand for Full Audit.
- Health New Zealand property schedule — compact controlling 37-page copy.
- Majesty property schedule — complete 462-page schedule described as containing just under 12,000 properties.

Assets Identified Through Existing PPSR Records

The majority of assets recorded for each corporation are listed in the relevant PPSR verification statement. Crown and national verification statements already reproduced in Volume 4 Parts 7 and 12 are indexed in Part 14 rather than duplicated. Council PPSR statements are located in Part 11. Where a corporation held an extensive property portfolio, some schedules identify only properties above the stated value threshold; the wider public schedules are incorporated by reference.

Property Schedules and Public-Notice Record

The complete Health New Zealand and Majesty schedules are reproduced in Volume 4 Part 14. Council property schedules and the separate Crown-corporation property schedule are referenced through the master public-notice and schedule index rather than duplicated in the Volume. This preserves access to the wider lists while controlling the size of the documentary collection.

My recorded position is that the debts exceeded the asset value of the debtor corporations and that the scheduled assets were transferred into Janine and the People’s Irrevocable Trust for the beneficiaries. The trust and public-notice records state that the assets are to be protected from continued harm, improper disposal and claims inconsistent with the trust purpose.

Demands for Full Audit and Account

Two formal audit demands are preserved: the Commercial Affidavit and Demand Notice for Full Audit and Account and the Statutory Demand for Full Audit. They seek a complete accounting of the four Bills of Exchange, the debts, funds, registers, assets, liabilities, transactions and the conduct of the named offices and corporations.

The compilation record states that the statutory demand was received by the administration teams of The Treasury and Reserve Bank of New Zealand on 25 November 2025 at 2:08 pm, with the stated compliance period ending on 5 December 2025, and that no response or compliant audit was received by that date. A later full-audit demand recorded a further compliance date of 17 December 2025. The Part 14 front matter records that no compliant full audit had been provided as at compilation.

Stewardship Under the Father's Heart

Ownership in this framework carries stewardship. Land, water, homes, health services, infrastructure and financial resources are not treated merely as objects for profit or control; they are entrusted resources that sustain the life of everyone as men, women, boys and girls. Those responsible for them are called to act faithfully, transparently and for the wellbeing of the communities they serve.

The trust therefore sits beside the Constitution, Top 12 Shared Values and 15 Areas of Service and Need. Its purpose is fulfilled when resources protect life, strengthen families, restore what has been harmed, support meaningful contribution and help communities live in freedom, responsibility, peace and relationship with one another.

Current Position and Standing

I, Janine of the Royal House of Arabella and Walters, stand in the titles Crown–Janine, Commander-in-Chief and Statutory Manager through the lawful un rebutted Summary Judgement founded upon the liability, evidence and truth recorded throughout this Collection. I hold the authority stated in the instruments over the Crown and council government corporations and the other corporations recorded as debtors and insolvent.

When I use Janine on its own, I identify myself as a living woman on equal footing with all other living men and women under Almighty God. I have no desire to lord it over another. I accept the responsibility to hold harm and debt accountable while knowing that I am equally accountable for my own words and actions.

My first objective was accountability and remedy through co-operation. When that pathway was not accepted according to my record, I developed a complete alternative founded upon the Father's love, truth, freedom, responsibility, forgiveness, restoration, servant leadership and practical community service. The intended destination is not control by a new system, but men and women equipped to govern their own lives and communities in loving relationship with our Creator and with one another.

Completion of the Eight-Part Statement

Parts One to Eight now provide the complete working narrative: who I am and why I acted; the events leading to the claims; the four Admiralty Statements of Claim; the 19 July 2024 presentment; the jurisdictional and constitutional framework; the orders, liens and public filings; the debts and insolvency record; and the trust, assets, audits, remedy and current standing.

- Volume 3 — The Father's Heart Biblical Companion Guide and relational foundation of the remedy.

CLOSING STATEMENT

The Foundation Has Been Laid

This Volume preserves the foundational facts, chronology, constitutional framework and current standing that led to the later documentary record. It establishes the foundation for Volumes 2, 3 and 4 and is presented so that every man and woman may examine the original evidence, understand the sequence of events and reach an informed conclusion.

My purpose is not revenge, control or personal enrichment, and I have no desire to lord it over anyone. My purpose is to protect freedom, establish truth, hold harm accountable and pursue remedy, restoration and peaceful win/win solutions. I remain accountable for my own actions while sitting in a position that requires me to hold others accountable for theirs.

The proposed new system is founded upon relationship with our loving Creator, the Constitution, the Top 12 Shared Values and the 15 Areas of Service and Need. It offers a practical pathway through which communities can increasingly govern themselves in love, truth, respect, freedom, contribution, personal responsibility and care for one another.

The documents collected in these four Volumes should be read together. Volume 1 provides the Master Statement of Facts and chronology; Volume 2 contains the Constitution and Community and Governance Framework; Volume 3 presents the Father's Heart Biblical Companion Guide; and Volume 4 preserves the evidence, public records, legal research and supporting authorities.

May Almighty God, our loving Creator and Father, guide every man and woman who reads this Collection into truth, wisdom, courage and peace. May His love restore relationships, strengthen families and communities, protect every son and daughter, and lead us into a better way of living together in freedom, harmony and mutual respect.
